●●● TRAINING BIO

Meet Rubin Williams, a certified Zinger Miller trainer and seasoned employment lawyer celebrated for reshaping workplace cultures. He is a former Chief HR Officer at Lowell Community Health Centers who started his career in manufacturing at Ford Motor Company. Rubin advocates for creating engaging and inclusive cultures, firmly believing that diversity and inclusion are essential ingredients for business success. Drawing from his background in biotech, non-profits, and healthcare, Rubin brings a unique perspective to compliance, DEI, and leadership training topics. More than a trainer, he catalyzes positive change with his unflappable and supportive style, ensuring organizations thrive. Whatever the situation, Rubin is guaranteed to bring knowledge and a sense of humor.

Rubin is great! He's easygoing, making us all feel comfortable. He asks great questions and communicated in a easy-to-understand way.
